Hampden-Sydney and Veterans

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY, a college for men, welcomes the opportunity to be of service to veterans of the Armed Forces who find themselves qualified for the work of the college and interested in our type of program and college life.

Admission and credit is in the control of a Faculty Committee which will investigate the academic record and the future ambitions of applicants and treat them on an individual basis. The credits earned in the various programs of the Armed Forces and of the United States Armed Forces Institute will be considered under the American Council on Education's Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services.

Veterans who wish to enter college after release from service are urged to apply to the Veterans Administration in their state for a certificate of eligibility and entitlement at least sixty days in advance of entering college in order that they may have certificates to present on entrance. Subsistence and other payments will be facilitated if a veteran has his certificate at hand.

To those veterans who contemplate entering another institution, either for the summer school or in regular attendance, it is necessary that a Supplemental Certificate (VA Form 1953) showing the remaining period of eligibility and entitlement be presented to the school in which you intend to enroll. Any change of course or school requires a Supplemental 1953, and it is requested that you advise the Veterans Administration Guidance Center well in advance of any change of course or institution in order that necessary administrative work may be completed in time to meet with your plans.

There are no housekeeping facilities available at Hampden-Sydney. Most of the married couples live in Farmville and commute in cars.

Historical Sketch of Hampden-Sydney College

THE need for an educational institution with the location and general character of Hampden-Sydney College arose from a variety of forces that appeared in the Virginia Colony in the last half of the eighteenth century. First among these was the organization, in 1755, of the Presbytery of Hanover, which covered not only Virginia and the Carolinas, but extended even over a large part of the territory which later formed the State of Ohio. The task of organizing and developing this extensive presbytery was assigned to a talented young clergyman of Delaware, Samuel Davies, who after his notable evangelistic work in Virginia, was called to succeed Jonathan Edwards as president of the College of New Jersey, and to John Todd, grandfather of Mary Todd, the wife of Abraham Lincoln.

As a result of the labors of these leaders and their fellow workers the force of active Presbyterianism soon began to be felt in Virginia. In the southern and central sections of the colony this sprang from a union of Scotch-Irish elements in Charlotte and Prince Edward counties with a mingling of English, Welsh, and Huguenot groups in Cumberland and Prince Edward, among whom the dissenting point of view in religion and a growing liberalism in political thought developed side by side. Among these groups the need for educational opportunity was keenly felt. The College of William and Mary, the only seat of higher learning in eastern Virginia, was somewhat remote from the central and southern sections of the colony. It was mainly under the influence of the Church of England; and, furthermore, as the hostility between the Colonies and the Home Government became more intense and threatening, it was thought that its location in a region of military camps and one that was likely to become a scene of future conflict made its educational outlook appear to be unfavorable.

The Presbyterian clergy of central Virginia and the families of their congregations, feeling strongly the need of an educational institution for their youth, had made some unsuccessful efforts in this direction as early as 1772. In October, 1774, the Presbytery of Hanover resumed the undertaking. A plan for subscriptions to the cause was set up and the erection of an academy was authorized in 1775 on a tract of ninety-eight acres of land donated by Peter Johnston, a native of Edinburgh, who had been among the early settlers in Prince Edward County. The "Old College Building," a two-story brick structure, was reared on the plot of ground slightly to the north of the present Lacy House (formerly known as "Hampden House"). According to the original plan, the school was to be opened in November of 1775, but owing to delay in the completion of the building, a slight postponement was necessary. The formal opening took place on January 1, 1776, with 110 students in attendance under the direction of the first Principal, or Rector, Reverend Samuel Stanhope Smith, a graduate of the College of New Jersey. As the number of students was larger than had been anticipated, it was found necessary to house some of them in temporary structures for the first session.

Although the institution was first known as an academy, it has been clearly shown by the researches of Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, former president of the College and now retired, that in addition to the preparatory work that was being done, courses of full collegiate grade also were conducted in the first years of the institution's history. President Smith in his opening prospectus stated: "The system of education will resemble that which is adopted in the College of New Jersey, save that a more particular attention will be paid to the English language than is usually done in places of public education." He also announced that strong emphasis would be placed on scientific studies. Moreover, very clear evidence of the definite purpose of the institution "to form good men and good citizens" is found in the early stress given to speech training shown in the wide range of important public questions discussed by the students in their literary and philosophical societies, as well as in the somewhat profound and Classical themes presented in their early commencement orations.

The name Hampden-Sydney, chosen for the college-academy, symbolized the union of civil and religious liberty, the first element being derived from the name of John Hampden, opponent of the "ship money" tax in the time of Charles I and the second from Algernon Sydney, a defender of religious liberty in the reign of Charles II. In 1783 the institution was regularly chartered as a college by the Virginia House of Delegates. A memorial from the trustees of Hampden-Sydney, suggesting this action, had been presented to the House of Delegates in November, 1776, but as the matter had not yet been urged with sufficient force, the Legislature had delayed in granting the appeal. In 1784 and 1794 tracts of land were donated to the College by the Commonwealth. In fact, it is clear from some of the correspondence between Thomas Jefferson and Joseph Cabell with reference to educational plans for Virginia that Hampden-Sydney was viewed, in its early years, as a definite part of the general educational system of the State and, accordingly, was deserving of some support through public appropriations. At the time of the general movement for the founding of the State university it was even mentioned as one of the possible locations for the institution. Although the college had been launched largely under Presbyterian auspices, it was in no sense narrowly sectarian. Among its early supporters were many members of the Church of England. The war for independence had aroused a sense of national unity and had increased among citizens of all classes a desire for educational advantages to fit men for the new and broadening opportunities that were opening before them.

From its beginning the College showed willingness to accept its full share of responsibility for the maintenance of the national welfare. On its first board of trustees are found the names of Patrick Henry and James Madison. Among its early alumni were William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, Joseph Cabell, Jefferson's righthand man in his great educational work for Virginia, and William Cabell, the noted physician who attended Patrick Henry in his last illness. The charter of the College declared: "That in order to preserve in the minds of the students that sacred love and attachment which they should bear to the principles of the present glorious revolution, the greatest care and caution should be used in electing of such professors and masters, to the end that no person shall be so elected unless the uniform tenor of his conduct manifest to the world his sincere affection for the liberty and independence of the United States of America." Clear evidence of the reality of this ideal promptly appeared. The first student military company in the country was organized on the campus, and at the threat of an invasion of the colony by the British in 1777, this company marched to Williamsburg under the leadership of Captain John Blair Smith, one of the tutors of the College and a brother of the president. At a later stage of the war a similar march was made to Petersburg. A company was likewise organized on the campus in the War of 1812 and another in the War Between the States. Students and alumni also bore their full part in the Spanish-American War, as they have conspicuously done in the two great world conflicts of the present century.

In 1779 Samuel Stanhope Smith was called to the faculty of the College of New Jersey (later becoming president as successor to John Witherspoon), and his brother, John Blair Smith, succeeded him in the management of Hampden-Sydney College. Following him came a line of distinguished presidents whose names appear in the list that follows this sketch. That the college was not narrowly sectarian was shown by the appointment of Jonathan P. Cushing, a prominent Episcopal layman, a graduate of Dartmouth College, as president in 1821. During the fourteen years of his administration the greatest early enlargements of the physical plant were made. Cushing Hall, named after the president, was erected in that period as the main college building. The building to the west of this, and later known as the "Alamo," had been built in part in 1817 as the home of President Moses Hoge. This was now considerably enlarged. President Cushing's administration was the most significant one during the first half of the nineteenth century. During this period Union Theological Seminary was founded on ground adjoining the College to the south. The Seminary was the outgrowth of the Department of Divinity organized by President Hoge, the grandfather of Reverend Moses D. Hoge, the famous pulpit orator of the Second Presbyterian Church of Richmond, Virginia, from 1845 to 1899. The Seminary became a separate institution in 1823 and continued to operate at this site until its removal to its present location in the Ginter Park section of Richmond in 1899.

The Seminary buildings, which were a gradual growth from 1823 to 1880, occupied the ridge on the south side of the campus. These buildings comprised the central structure which, after some alterations and enlargements, has become Venable Hall of the present college, the library at the western end, and the two residences occupied, respectively, by the President and Dean of the College.

McIlwaine Hall, first known as Memorial Hall, was built in 1889 during the administration of President Richard McIlwaine to provide a chapel and classroom when it became necessary to move these from Cushing Hall for lack of space. The Administration Building, situated on the east side of the main road through the campus was originally a two-story residence built, probably, about the middle of the last century. It was later taken over by the Seminary for use as a dining hall and dormitory with the addition of a third story. In 1919 it became the property of the College and was then renovated to fit it for its present uses. College Church, also among the comparatively old buildings on the campus, dates from 1859-'60. It has been preceded by a still older structure known as Brick Church, erected in 1819. The Graham Gymnasium was a product of the administration of President Henry Tucker Graham (1908-1917). The part of the building forming the north front had been formerly the president's house, built, probably, about the period of 1830. In the presidency of Dr. Graham the college plant was modernized, a chronic deficit was relieved and the entrance requirements were standardized and stiffened, yet with increased enrollment.

The presidency of Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston saw many improvements and enlargements of the College property. Electricity was brought to the campus. Better road connection was established with National Highway Number 15. Further improvements were made in Cushing Hall and Venable Hall. Two important new buildings were erected: Science Hall, later named Bagby Hall in honor of Dr. John Hampden C. Bagby, Professor of Physics from 1892 to 1934, and Morton Hall, a classroom building, the gift of Mr. Samuel Packwood Morton of Baltimore, and built in 1936 in memory of his great-grandfather, John Morton, who had served as a lieutenant under General Andrew Lewis at the Battle of Point Pleasant in 1774 and was one of the founders and early trustees of Hampden-Sydney College. College Shop was also among the buildings added to the campus property during this period.

In 1921 the Memorial Gate was erected to the memory of Hampden-Sydney alumni who gave their lives in the First World War. The funds for this project were raised by the untiring efforts of Dr. W. H. T. Squires of Norfolk, Virginia, a member of the Board of Trustees. One of the rosebushes which ornaments the gate was the gift of Queen Mary of England, at the dedication of the Memorial Gate in 1926. Other gifts for the decoration of the gate consisted of a rosebush from the White House, presented by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson in commemoration of the fact that President Wilson's father had at one time been a member of the Hampden-Sydney Faculty; an arbor vitae, given by Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall; and a rosebush from Mount Vernon, given by Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker and Mrs. Baker.

President Edgar Graham Gammon soon after assuming office in 1939 began to lay plans for the erection of a new gymnasium on ground facing the athletic field. This building was completed in 1940 and was formally opened for use in January, 1941. The Post Office built in the following year completed the present group of college buildings. An improved water system was provided for the campus and street lights were added. Recognition was secured for the academic standing of the College by having it placed upon the accredited list of the Association of American Universities.

Although Hampden-Sydney is a small college, it has made an important contribution to the various branches of public service in America as well as to the professional and business fields. It has trained one president of the United States, two cabinet members, four foreign ministers, ten United States senators, eleven governors of states, twenty-eight members of the House of Representatives, thirty-four members of the Virginia House of Delegates, many hundreds of ministers, lawyers, physicians, engineers, and teachers, as well as thirty presidents of colleges.

In addition to the large number of men whom the College has trained for general educational work, it has exercised an unusually important influence in sending out men who have been founders of other institutions or have had a large share in the work of reviving and reorganizing them. A list of these will be found appended to the present sketch.

Hampden-Sydney College

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE is a liberal arts college for 400 men and is located approximately seven miles south of Farmville, Virginia, just off U. S. Highway 15.

Its aim is to provide a cultural education in order to equip one for the future enjoyment of life and to provide the preliminary foundation necessary for study in graduate work or in the learned professions.

Its buildings are appropriately located on a tract of 400 acres. The value of buildings and grounds is estimated at $1,000,000. The College is supported by an endowment of $1,200,000 and by gifts of alumni and friends.

It is affiliated with all the standard accrediting agencies of its field. It is a member of the Association of Virginia Colleges; the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools; The Southern University Conference; the Association of American Colleges. In 1941 it was placed on the approved list of the Association of American Universities.

The two outstanding national honor societies have chapters at Hampden-Sydney. Phi Beta Kappa recognizes high scholarship and Omicron Delta Kappa is the reward for leadership.

Hampden-Sydney is a charter member of the Richmond Area University Center which unites seven of the strongest educational institutions within the contiguous area of Richmond into a cooperative unit in which each institution may preserve its distinctive character and individuality.

ADMISSION TO COLLEGE

In considering an applicant for admission the administration will give attention to the high school record and to his recommendations. Character and good health are necessary requirements; good scholarship, interest in recreational activities, and leadership in school-life are of considerable importance.

An application blank will be found in the back of the catalogue. When this is filled out and submitted to the college along with the Registration Fee, the college will send for the high school record after the close of the first semester. These along with other data collected are appraised by the Entrance Committee and the applicant is notified of their decision. Venable Hall has been designated as the Freshman dormitory and Freshmen are required to live there. A limited number of upperclassmen serve as Councillors in this dormitory. The most convenient place to board is the Commons, which is located in the same building and is maintained and supervised by the College. Other students are assigned to Cushing Hall and may board either at the Commons or at one of the private boarding houses authorized by the college.

Freshmen are notified in advance of their room assignment and will find Councillors present at Venable Hall to help them become located. Freshmen will attend the required orientation program and tests, and register in Morton Hall on Tuesday by consulting with their class adviser. He will advise with each man about his courses and arrange with him a schedule of recitation and study. He gives him a card which entitles him to matriculate. This card is presented to the Treasurer, who countersigns it upon payment of the semester fees.

Attendance at the beginning of the course is imperative. Also no unwarranted absences from classes are permitted. The only excuses accepted are those of the college physician for sickness or of the dean in extraordinary circumstances, which must be explained to the dean in advance. A limited number of cuts are granted each student. Freshmen have no cuts during the first semester. For the second semester they are allowed one cut in each class. Attendance at laboratories is required.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

- I. Graduation from a state-approved secondary school or its equivalent.
- II. The secondary school course must include preparation suitable to carry on the work at Hampden-Sydney College. This preparation should include:
  1. A thorough grounding in English.
  2. A complete course in Algebra, which will require at least a year and a half and preferably two years.

3. A complete course in Plane Geometry.

Solid Geometry is a requirement for advanced Mathematics.

4. A complete course in either Biology, or Chemistry, or Physics.
5. At least two (2) years in one foreign language, either Latin, or French, or German, or Spanish.
6. One year of History or Civics.
7. Three (3) additional units, chosen from Mathematics, Foreign Language, Science, and Social Studies.
8. The other two, or two and a half units, may be from any subjects credited by the secondary school.

III. Recommendation from the school authorities that the applicant can do college work.

IV. A health certificate by (family) Physician must be received and accepted by the college physician before entrance in September.

ENTRANCE BY CERTIFICATE

Students are admitted to the College by certificate from an accredited secondary school. Students entering by certificate will be accredited to no class higher than Freshman.

ENTRANCE BY EXAMINATION

An applicant unable to offer a satisfactory certificate from an accredited secondary school may enter by passing equivalent examinations. These examinations will be held at the College, and will begin Monday, September 4th at 10:00 a.m. Previous arrangements for these examinations should be made.

ADVANCED STANDING

College credit is not given for work done in Preparatory Schools. Students must enter the lowest college class in all subjects. If, however, a student can satisfy head of a department by examination or otherwise that he is qualified to do the work of a higher course he may be enrolled conditionally in the higher course. By completing the work of this higher course he satisfies the degree requirement of the lower course but is granted no hours credit for the lower course. The benefit is that the student may take an elective of interest during a later year. If at any time he shows lack of ability or unwillingness to do the work of the higher course, he may be required to drop back to the lower course.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Occasionally an applicant for admission has reached the age of maturity without having had the opportunity of securing sixteen entrance units. Provision is made for such applicants, as "Special Students." They must be more than twenty years of age at the date of entrance, must present at least seven entrance units, and must conform to all College regulations. With the advice of the Class Advisers they may enroll in such courses as suit their tastes and their preparation.

TRANSFERRED STUDENTS

Because of the differences in courses and regulations a transference from one college to another almost always involves a loss of credits. For this and other reasons a change of college is to be discouraged. Especially undesirable is it in the middle of a session.

The college reserves the right to refuse to grant credit unless the grades for the courses are higher than the lowest passing grade.

However, in strictly cultural and scientific courses tentative credit will be accorded a student transferring from an institution of the same grade as Hampden-Sydney, provided the entrance requirements are satisfied. This credit will become final upon satisfactory work at Hampden-Sydney. If he shows that he cannot do the work undertaken, the credit will have to be readjusted. No credit will be allowed for the work of a quarter, a semester, or a session taken elsewhere, if the equivalent of this work is taken in course at Hampden-Sydney.

No student from another institution who received credit for less than nine hours work for the term next preceding his application will be admitted.

STUDENT PERSONNEL AND COUNSELING PROGRAM

It is of vital importance that each student should discover as soon as possible in his college career his natural abilities, aptitudes and talents so that he may be wisely guided both as to his choice of a lifework and as to the course of studies he may most profitably pursue. It has been demonstrated that a large proportion of the failures at the college level and later in life are due to misfits or misdirected ambitions resulting from a lack of such knowledge. Often the student's personal happiness and the development of his character are at stake. Other students, although vocationally and scholastically well-adjusted, have nervous handicaps or personality disturbances which prevent their getting the most out of college life and may even endanger their mental health. To meet these needs, the College has established a Student Personnel Program which offers three distinct services.

1. All students on entering college are given a series of aptitude and personality tests chosen for their bearing upon occupational and educational guidance. Records of these tests will be available to the Dean and to the student's Faculty Adviser. They will be used to help the student plan his future work in the most intelligent manner or to correct his weaknesses.

2. Those students who feel the need of a more intensive analysis of their aptitudes are offered a vocational guidance service consisting of both tests and interviews. This is carried on with the facilities and counseling of the Psychology Department. The policy is purely advisory and the student is encouraged to make his own decision in the light of knowledge of his capacities and personality traits made available to him.

3. Students with nervous difficulties or personal problems are encouraged to seek counsel from a member of the Student Personnel Committee carefully selected from the Faculty for this purpose. Such problems will be received in a sympathetic and confidential manner and helpful advice will be given. In such cases as seem necessary the student will be advised to seek proper medical or psychiatric attention. The early or preventive treatment of personal maladjustments is often of the greatest importance. The mental health of the student is to be safeguarded no less than his physical health.

*The foreign language requirement for the B.S. degree may be satisfied by completing four years in one modern language, French or German, or Spanish, or by completing two years in two of them. Entrance credit of two units in any Modern Language (if allowed by our second year course) is counted as satisfying our first year course in this degree requirement but no credit toward the required 62 hours is granted for work done in a Secondary School. (Credit in Greek 1 and 2 or Latin 1 and 2 may be substituted for a Modern Language.)

†These two courses must be consecutive courses unless three of the six hours are in an advanced Social Science, Natural Science or Mathematics course.

HOURS REQUIRED

For the B.A. or B.S. degree, a candidate must complete, together with the prescribed work, enough elective courses to aggregate sixty-two hours of credit. A minimum of seventy-four hours of credit is required of a student who wishes to take both degrees.

A minimum residence of one year, the year immediately preceding graduation, is required.

If a student fails to graduate with his class, he may receive credit for not more than four hours of work done elsewhere later. During his four years' course he may receive credit for only 15 hours in other summer schools, and a maximum of more than six session hours in any one summer session must be approved by the Dean in advance.

All students of Hampden-Sydney College are required to take courses in Bible their first two years.

QUALITATIVE UNITS

IN addition to the sixty-two session hours required for graduation a degree candidate must have a total of 80 qualitative units. (Only 20 of these may be earned in summer schools.)

These units are given on the following basis:

For each grade between 76 and 79, inclusive, 1 unit for each session hour.

For each grade between 80 and 84, inclusive, 2 units for each session hour.

For each grade between 85 and 89, inclusive, 3 units for each session hour.

For each grade between 90 and 94, inclusive, 4 units for each session hour.

For each grade between 95 and 100, inclusive, 5 units for each session hour.

Qualitative units are not given on term grades, nor can they be earned by re-examinations or by a term course in lieu of a re-examination.

HONORS COURSES

HONORS COURSES for Juniors and Seniors who have an academic average of 85 are available in the various departments at the option of the department heads. These courses will consist of independent reading or research under faculty supervision. Prerequisite for such a course is two years of study in that department. Only one such course may be taken in one year and there will be at least monthly meetings with the supervising professor. At the completion of the course either an examination or a 5,000-word paper or both will be required. Each course successfully completed 1) will carry 2 hours credit on the student's permanent record but will be over and above the 62 hours required for a degree and 2) will reduce by one point (or percent) the average required for graduation with honors.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

BEGINNING with the session 1949-1950 Honors at graduation have been on the following basis. No course has been failed and these minimum averages are required: for cum laude an average of 87; for magna cum laude an average of 90; for summa cum laude an average of 93.

SPRING REGISTRATION FOR COURSES

DURING the first week in May each Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior must select, in consultation with Class Advisers, the courses in which he expects to enroll the subsequent year. It will be assumed that a man who does not register, does not intend to return.

THE LIBRARY

THE Library collection was begun with the opening of the College in 1776. In spite of the ravages of time and fire, it has survived and grown until it is now at its best from the point of view of the book collection.

The Library is housed in a modern fire-proof building remodeled and redecorated in 1949. This building consists of a general reading and reference room (the section of the building destroyed by fire in 1941) and a stack wing in which is included a periodical room. The entire building is attractively furnished in comfortable and appropriate furniture.

There are about 40,000 selected books, including a well-rounded reference collection, the leading newspapers, and the essential periodicals in addition to government deposited books and documents. While many old and valuable volumes are included in the collection, there has been added since 1941 several thousand well-chosen books which brings the Library up to the modern standards required for good scholarly work. The books are catalogued according to the Dewey Decimal system.

In addition to printed material, the library also has a radiophograph, an excellent record collection, a microfilm reader and micro-card viewing equipment.

The Library is open to students and the community from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. daily, except Sunday. A trained staff is on hand to give every assistance to the students. The Librarian cooperates with the English Department in giving Freshmen individual instruction in finding and using the materials offered in the Library.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY

THE present society is the result of the merger of the old Union and Philanthropic Societies. The Union Society was founded in 1789 and is second only to the Cliosophic Society of Princeton University in point of age.

It is made up of a group of students who are interested in the various forms of public speaking. They meet every Tuesday evening on the top floor of McIlwaine Hall in the old Union room which is furnished in colonial style.

The programs of the Society deal mostly with literary men and their works, public affairs and matters related to the student body. The work of the Society is sponsored by certain members of the Faculty who volunteer their services. Freshmen especially are invited to avail themselves of the benefits of the Society.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE COURSES

FIRST-YEAR courses in modern foreign languages are intended for students who have had no previous training in those languages. See pages 44, 45, 57. No credit will be given for a first-year course in a modern language unless it is followed by the second-year course in the same language. No credit will be allowed in a first-year course in modern language when two units of that language have been used for college entrance.

Candidates for the B.A. degree may satisfy the degree requirement for courses 1, 2, and 3 in any language, ancient or modern, with the satisfactory completion of the third-year course in that language. The satisfactory completion of the second-year course in any language, ancient or modern, will meet the degree requirement for courses 1 and 2 in that language.

Candidates for the B.S. degree may satisfy the degree requirements for foreign language with the successful completion of any two second-year courses.

Credit hours in language courses will be given only for those language courses taken in college.

PREPARATION FOR MEDICAL COLLEGE

Most medical colleges require at least three years of college work for entrance. Some require graduation. The number of men applying to the medical colleges has caused many applicants to be rejected. The chances of a man with only the minimum requirements have been growing less. For this reason, and because in such an important profession as medicine a thorough preparation in Science and a broad cultural background are so desirable, it is strongly urged that all men expecting to enter that profession pursue a four-year course leading to a baccalaureate degree. The necessary Sciences can easily be taken as electives.

PREPARATION FOR LAW SCHOOL

There is no pre-law course in the sense of a set of requirements specified by the law schools. These schools require at least two years of College work, and many require three years. Certain college courses furnish a better preparation for the study of law than others, and the Class Advisers or the Dean will guide the prospective law student in choosing the best courses.

However, the best possible preparation for the study of law is the four-year course leading to the B.A. degree, and all students interested in studying law are advised to take this degree.

PREPARATION FOR THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The American Association of Theological Schools recommends that men preparing for the ministry take in college courses in the following subjects: English, History, Psychology, Philosophy, Greek, Biology or Physics, Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Education. Special emphasis should be placed upon the study of English as it is of supreme importance that the minister be able to express himself with clarity, beauty and force. German is also recommended for students who expect to pursue advanced work in theology. The B.A. course is recommended.

*Outline of Work in the Several Departments

ASTRONOMY

PROFESSOR GILMER

GENERAL ASTRONOMY

The first months are devoted to a careful study of the geometry of the sphere as essential to the proper understanding of the astronomical methods of determining the location, distance and motions of the heavenly bodies; the members of the solar system and the bodies in the outer region of space are then successively taken up and their motions, physical features and constitution considered. Throughout the course the mathematical and physical laws by which the astronomer is guided to his conclusions and the logical development of the reasoning resulting in these conclusions are the objects of attention, the mere rehearsal of facts being deemed of secondary importance.

Only such students as have completed Physics 1, and Mathematics 1 and 2, are admitted to this course. This course will be given in 1950-1951. Three hours credit.

BIBLE

PROFESSOR MASSEY

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MCRAE

The work of this department has four chief objectives:

- (1) to provide the student with a knowledge of the Bible, adequate for his personal needs and for his service to the Church of Christ;
- (2) to give him a reverence for the Bible and a sympathy for its teachings;

*The courses will generally be given as outlined, but every professor reserves the right to modify the content of his courses at will. The College reserves the right to eliminate courses whose enrollments are too small to justify them.

(3) to acquaint him with some of the best methods of Bible study;

(4) to contribute to his Christian experience and to help him meet his responsibilities in all of his life relations. The Bible is the chief text-book, and the student is encouraged to study the Bible without helps and to make personal application of its teachings.

As the part of the work of the first two years some of the great passages of the Scriptures are committed to memory, accompanied by exposition and attempts at practical application.

In Bible 1 and 2 considerable attention is given to Bible Geography.

All students are required to take Bible the first two years in college.

BIBLE 1.

The Life of Christ. Using an outline based largely on A. T. Robertson's Harmony, the earthly sojourn of our Lord from His birth to His ascension is traced and studied, the student being kept on the alert at every step for evidences of His Deity and His sufficiency as a Saviour. Required of all first year students. Three hours credit.

BIBLE 2.

Old Testament. A careful study of selected historical portions of the Old Testament, tracing the unfolding of the Divine plan in the history of the Israelitish people in preparation for the coming of the Messiah and discovering the message of the Old Testament for the Life of today. Required of all second year students. Three hours credit.

BIBLE 3.

Book Studies in the Bible. The Acts and the Epistles, with special emphasis upon the life and teachings of Paul. If time permits, attention is given to the messages of some of the Old Testament Prophets. Elective for students who have passed courses 1 and 2. This course alternates with Bible 4 and may be given in 1950-1951. Three hours credit.

BIBLE 4.

Christian Life and Leadership. This course is designed to stabilize the student in his religious thinking, to contribute definitely to the enrichment of his Christian experience, and to aid in preparing him for Christian leadership in the Church and in the other spheres of life. The content of the course varies with the personal and vocational demands of the class. Elective for students who have passed courses 1 and 2. This course alternates with Bible 3 and will not be given in 1950-1951. Three hours credit.

BIOLOGY

PROFESSOR OVERCASH

BIOLOGY 1.

General Biology. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the fundamental generalizations that are the product of modern research in Biology. Comparative morphology, physiology, and ecology of animal and plant life are illustrated by a detailed study of types of several groups. Two hours credit. Fee $1.00 for those not taking Biology 2.

BIOLOGY 2.

This is a course of one laboratory a week following the class work of Biology 1, and gives the student first-hand knowledge of the objects of his study. Exactness and method in observation, care in the handling of material, and neatness in keeping notebooks will receive special emphasis. One hour credit.

Students will furnish their own notebooks and dissecting sets. Laboratory fee, $7.00; breakage deposit, $2.00.

BIOLOGY 3.

Zoölogy. A general survey will be made of the animal kingdom; the phyla and classes being studied, and typical forms used in the laboratory to enable the student to place each in its natural position. Morphology and physiology will be stressed and attention called to the most important ecological groups and individuals. Two hours recitation and a minimum of two and one-half hours laboratory work a week.

This course is intended primarily for students who expect to study medicine, but is also valuable for those who will do advanced work in Biology. Elective for students who have completed Biology 1 and 2. Three hours credit.

Laboratory fee, $10.00; breakage deposit, $2.00.

BIOLOGY 4.

Botany. The morphology, physiology and ecology of plants will be the subject matter in this course. The form of comparatively few plants will be studied and these will be used to help in acquiring a working knowledge of others. The general principles of Physiology will be studied and applied. Ecology is studied with the special purpose of opening the eyes of the student to many of the interesting things about him which have never received his attention. Two hours recitation and a minimum of two and one half hours of laboratory work a week. Elective for students who have completed Biology 1 and 2. This course may be given in 1950-1951. Three hours credit.

Laboratory fee, $10.00; breakage deposit, $2.00.

BIOLOGY 5.

Vertebrate Anatomy and Embryology. Lectures, recitations and laboratory work. The higher vertebrates will be used as a basis for the discussions. Special emphasis will be placed on the embryology of the chick and some time will be spent in the study of the amphibian and mammalian embryos. Prerequisite Biology 3. The course will not be given for fewer than four students. This course may be given in 1950-1951. Three hours credit.

Laboratory fee, $10.00.

BIOLOGY 6.

Genetics. A short course in the study of Mendelian principles and their application to present-day problems. A survey of present-day knowledge of plants and animals from the standpoint of their inheritance. Lectures, recitations, problems. Prerequisite, six hours Biology. This course will not be given for fewer than four students. One hour credit.

Fee, $1.00.

CHEMISTRY

PROFESSOR LIKES
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR DOWELL
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR BONDURANT

CHEMISTRY 1.

Science of Chemistry. This is a first course in chemistry and is designed primarily for students who plan to take only a single year of chemistry.* The aim of the course is to acquaint the student with the history of chemistry, its language, fundamental ideas, and practical applications in order that he may have some general understanding of the chemical world and be able to follow without bewilderment some of the more important developments in this field. The laboratory part of the course consists of experiments which illustrate and which supplement the material covered in the lecture course. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Laboratory two and one-half hours per week. Fee, $20.00; breakage deposit, $5.00. Four hours credit.

CHEMISTRY 2.

Principles of Chemistry. This is also a first course in chemistry, but is intended only for those students who plan to pursue the subject for two or more years. Emphasis is placed on the fundamental laws which govern chemical and physical changes. Considerable attention is also devoted to the descriptive chemistry of the more important elements and their compounds. Frequent references are made to the applications of chemistry to the arts, medicine and to industry. The laboratory course is organized to parallel as closely as possible the lecture course. Lecture and recitation three hours per week. Laboratory two and one-half hours per week. Fee, $20.00; breakage deposit, $5.00. Four hours credit.

CHEMISTRY 3.

A. Qualitative Analysis. This part of the analytical course is designed to give the student a thorough knowledge of the methods

*If, after completing Chemistry 1, a student desires to take a more advanced course in chemistry, he must first pass the second term of Chemistry 2. College credit will not be allowed for this additional work.

employed in the qualitative determination of cations and anions in solution. The class work deals with the principles of equilibrium, ionization, solubility product, complex ions and other theoretical topics bearing on the laboratory work. Emphasis is placed on the solution of problems pertaining to the above topics.

B. Quantitative Analysis. The second part of the course presents and applies the more important principles and methods of gravimetric and volumetric analysis. Laboratory technique is emphasized and the determinations are carefully selected from this standpoint. The class work consists of a study of the theoretical principles of quantitative analysis, discussion of the laboratory work and the solution of representative problems.

Elective for students who have completed Chemistry 2. Two hours lecture and five hours laboratory per week. Fee, $20.00; breakage deposit, $5.00 per term. Four hours credit.

CHEMISTRY 4.

Organic Chemistry. This course is designed primarily for two classes of students; namely, those intending to pursue the study of medicine, and those intending to specialize in chemistry. General organic reactions are emphasized and illustrated by special cases of importance, while the relatively large number of compounds of minor import is rapidly surveyed. In the laboratory typical organic compounds are prepared according to commercial and purely scientific methods. Special emphasis is laid on the development of proper laboratory technique. Elective for students who have completed Chemistry 2. Three hours lecture and five hours laboratory per week. Fee, $20.00; breakage deposit, $10.00. Five hours credit.

CHEMISTRY 5.

A. Advanced Quantitative Analysis. In this course the basic methods of quantitative analysis are applied to the determination of several commercial products. Practice is given in the analysis of limestones, fertilizers, feeds, ores and water. The lectures interpret the results and explain the theory involved in the laboratory procedures. MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR ELLIOTT

PROFESSOR REED

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR REVELEY

Methods and principles are studied and great emphasis is placed on the "technique" involved in courses 1-B, 2-B, and 3. The student who attempts to take more advanced courses in mathematics, or in certain other sciences, is often embarrassed and has his attention distracted by more or less elementary transformations. One of the objects of these three courses is to prevent this, and to this end a great deal of attention is paid to formal manipulation. Especially is this true in Mathematics 3.

Each course depends almost directly upon its prerequisite. Therefore a student should expect considerable difficulty if he has a grade of below 80 in the prerequisite.

Freshmen entering with outstanding preparation in mathematics (this must include trigonometry) are sometimes allowed to enter 2-A or 2-B.

MATHEMATICS 1-A.

This course is similar to 1-B. More subject matter is covered with less stress on "technique." For B.A. students who are certain they will take only one year of mathematics. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 1-B.

The first term is devoted to algebra. Important parts of high school algebra are reviewed and advanced topics are taken up. The second term is devoted to plane trigonometry. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 2-A.

The first term is an introduction to statistics. The second term is an introduction to the mathematics of business and finance. Seniors may not elect this course. Prerequisite, Mathematics 1-B. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 2-B.

The session is devoted to plane analytical geometry. Seniors may not elect this course. Prerequisite, Mathematics 1-B. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 3.

Differential and integral calculus. Students without solid geometry will be at a disadvantage. Prerequisite, Mathematics 2-B. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 4.

This is a continuation of the calculus with a short course in differential equations. Prerequisites, solid geometry and Mathematics 3. Three hours credit.

MATHEMATICS 5.

This course is for students who intend to specialize in mathematics or in work involving mathematics. It includes the theory of equations, an elementary treatment of determinates, certain topics in advanced algebra, and solid analytical geometry. The normal prerequisites are solid geometry and Mathematics 3, but outstanding students are sometimes allowed to take Mathematics 3 and Mathematics 5 during the same year. Three hours credit.

General Information

THE HAMPDEN-SYDNEY AIM

It is the general aim of Hampden-Sydney College to prepare the highest type of manhood to fill the different callings of life. Through its curriculum and the courses offered, it aims to do two things: (1) To give a broad cultural education to men who expect to go into business and into the professions; (2) To equip men of special interests and capacities for post-graduate and research work in some university.

In the carrying out of these aims, emphasis is placed upon the development of Christian character and sound scholarship. Every effort is exerted to foster a wholesome moral atmosphere. Only men of Christian character and adequate attainments in scholarship are chosen to positions in the faculty. For members of its student body the College is seeking only young men who are adequately prepared and of good moral character. Young men who indulge in such vices as profanity, drinking, gambling, and the like are not wanted at Hampden-Sydney.

DISCIPLINE

The discipline of the College is in the hands of the President, the Dean, and Faculty, under regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees. Its object is to maintain regularity and order in the institution, and to cultivate among the students the spirit of honor and manliness. The principle on which it proceeds is what has for many years been known in the universities and colleges of Virginia as "The Honor System," and has been found most effective in the development of good character and conduct. Fortunately, other means are seldom needed to secure the desired end, but, when necessary, they are resorted to in the form either of admonition, suspension, or dismissal, as the gravity of the offense may demand.

EXCLUSION FROM COLLEGE

The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing it regards as undesirable, and without assigning any further reason therefor; in such cases fees will not be refunded or remitted, in whole or in part, and neither the college nor any of its officers shall be under any liability whatsoever for such exclusion.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance at class is necessary and it is imperative that every class period be utilized. A limited number of cuts is granted to each student except first semester Freshmen. He should conserve these for desired absences. Otherwise there is no excuse for absence from classes except on the doctor's excuse or under extraordinary circumstances explained to the dean in advance. A request on the part of a parent for absence of a son from class (except under extraordinary circumstances) is not acceptable. Every unexcused absence counts as a zero for the class missed. A student receiving five zeroes during any term on account of unexcused absences or for any other reason, will be put on probation and be deprived of all privileges, and especially of missing any classes for any reason except sickness. If he receives one additional zero, he will be dismissed from College. This penalty becomes a part of his permanent record.

ROOM AND BOARD

Students shall room in the college dormitories in assigned rooms or in houses approved by the College Administration. Each student is responsible for any damage to his room or college property therein.

Cooking in dormitory rooms is not permitted.

No unauthorized electrical equipment will be permitted and no changes in the wiring shall be made except by the college electrician. The misuse of radio will necessitate confiscation until the end of the term.

The College maintains a dining hall known as the Commons in which the most modern equipment, a balanced diet, and excellent service are maintained under the direction of an expert dietitian. Students must board at the Commons, or at one of the boarding houses on the campus, approved by the Administration. The regulations do not apply to day students. Changes of boarding place may be made only at the beginning of a semester. The dormitories and the Commons are closed during the Christmas Holiday and immediately after Commencement.

AUTOMOBILES, FIREARMS, DOGS

Cars may be kept at school by all seniors and by those juniors and sophomores who average 82 for the previous session, provided they have the consent of their parents or guardian. All cars must be registered with the Dean. Each possessor of a car shall be responsible for its misuse by others.

No student is permitted to possess firearms at Hampden-Sydney.

No student is allowed to bring or to keep a dog at Hampden-Sydney.

The possession or the setting off of fireworks at Hampden-Sydney is forbidden.

Drinking by students is forbidden and the possession of any alcoholic liquor on the campus or in any building connected with the college may result in discipline.

CHURCH AND CHAPEL ATTENDANCE

For longer than a century and a half Hampden-Sydney has had as her major objective the building of Christian character. A strong moral and spiritual atmosphere on the campus is most conducive to this end. This atmosphere is created by the students and the faculty centering their faith in God as He is revealed in Christ.

Attendance at Chapel, three days a week, is required of Sophomores and Freshmen. Attendance at Church on Sundays is required of Freshmen.

COMPLEMENT OF HOURS REQUIRED

All students except Seniors must have a minimum of fifteen hours a week and no student may take a course of more than nineteen hours a week except by permission of the Executive Committee of the Faculty. But no student may take over sixteen hours who has not passed at least fifteen hours the previous year, except by permission of the Executive Committee of the Faculty.

TERM REPORTS

Each professor keeps a daily record of the attendance and recitations of the members of his classes, and at the end of each term a statement of the standing in scholarship is sent to the parent or guardian of each student.

EXAMINATIONS

In all classes examinations are held at the end of each term.

RE-EXAMINATIONS

No student except Seniors is entitled to a re-examination in a course in which he has not passed the second semester's work of the course. Thus his re-examination will be on the work of the first semester. These examinations will be given only on the three days immediately following Commencement or immediately before the first day of registration in September. Passing a course by re-examination entitles a student to a grade of 75 for the course.

HONOR ROLLS

Effective for the session 1950-1951 the First Honor Roll will be based on an average grade of 90 with no grade below 85, and the Second Honor Roll will be based on an average grade of 85 with no grade below 80.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COLLEGE

Any student who withdraws from college during the school year shall sign a resignation card at the Dean's office. Otherwise he shall receive no credit in any course and "withdrew with no credit" will be entered on his permanent record and on any transcript of it.

CREDIT FOR SUMMER WORK

A student desiring to secure credit on work done in summer schools of other colleges should first have the approval of the professor in whose department the credit is sought; otherwise he may find that the course taken is not the equivalent of the course given at Hampden-Sydney College and therefore not entitled to credit.

The college reserves the right to refuse to grant credit unless the grade for the course taken in summer school is higher than the lowest passing grade.

Only 15 of the 62 hours required for graduation may be earned in summer school and only 20 of the 80 quality units.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Students who show that they lack the proper preparation to do the work of the college will be advised to withdraw. Those who do not accept this advice become subject to the following rule. Those who are capable of doing the work of the College and do not carry it to the satisfaction of the Faculty will be dropped from college and such action will form a part of the student's record and will be stated on any transcript. The passing grade for all classes is 75.

ATHLETICS

Hampden-Sydney College offers the very latest athletic advantages, including a brand-new, fully-equipped gymnasium and excellent playing fields for football, baseball, tennis and track.

No one shall be a member or manager of any College athletic team who is not a regularly matriculated student.

No student under twenty-one years of age will be permitted to accompany any team for games away from College, either as a regular member of the team, as a substitute, or as a manager, except upon written permission from his parent or guardian previously addressed to the Dean of the College.

The College is not liable for injuries received in any athletic practice or contest, or for hospital and doctors' bills, or for any other expenses resulting from such injuries.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Recognizing the importance of stimulating physical exercise to the maintenance of student health, the Athletic Department at Hampden-Sydney College offers a comprehensive program of intramural activities which provides every student with opportunity to indulge in gainful recreation and pleasant social relations. This program, conducted under the careful supervision of the faculty, includes all seasonal sports from the beginning of autumn through the end of spring. Details concerning this very important phase of college life are contained in The Handbook of Intramural Sports.

THE STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The Student Health Service upholds the highest standards of physical and mental health and emphasizes the prevention of sickness. An applicant for entrance is required to bring a medical certificate from the family or other physician stating that he is in good health and not handicapped with physical defects that will permanently disqualify him for college work. Soon after a student enters school he is given an examination by the college physician to determine his fitness for the various activities in the physical education program. Periodic examinations are given to watch the progress of cases limited in activities by the entrance examination. Special examinations are given when called for and there is a definite effort to keep the college physician in touch with the students who need his attention.

INFIRMARY SERVICE

Students needing medical attention are treated in the infirmary, which is well equipped and can accommodate more students than normally require medical attention at any one time. The Infirmary gives a twenty-four hour service and takes care of the greatest majority of conditions requiring medical and minor surgical attention. The College does not assume the responsibility for any medical attention except that given by the College physician and by the nurse, at the College Infirmary. Consultants, specialists, dental work, operations, hospitalization, private nurses, special prescriptions, x-rays, and other laboratory work, etc., involve an extra expense on the part of the student.

Our policy is to carry out the desires of the student's family in cases which have to be taken care of outside of the Infirmary. Where an emergency arises we immediately get in touch with the home by telephone.

The Southside Community Hospital, a seventy-five bed modernly equipped and thoroughly up to date hospital, is located in Farmville and is available where hospitalization, x-rays, or laboratory work is needed. Our College Physician is a member of the active staff of the hospital.

Student Health Service covers only regularly matriculated students.

HEALTH REGULATIONS

1. All medical excuses, whether illness is on or off campus, and whether the student is treated by the College Physician or his private physician, must come from the College Physician. Students living in their own homes enjoy all the benefits of the Student Health Service except Infirmary room service.

2. A student ill enough to be in bed must be in the Infirmary, where he can have medical attention and care of the nurses. No excuses are given unless this rule is observed.

3. Students at home on account of illness are required to notify the College Physician on that day and to report to him for excuse upon their return to College.

4. Students who have had or have been exposed to any infectious disease must report to the College Physician before attending classes or mingling with other students.

5. Appointments with outside physicians and with dentists should be reported in advance to the College Physician. This is a requirement when the appointment involves absence from classes.

A Committee composed of the director of music and two faculty members designated by the president of the college is to select the recipient of the award.

Student Organizations

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student self-government has long been a cherished tradition and institution at Hampden-Sydney. The present constitution was adopted by the Student Body in 1942. Based largely upon past experience it is designed to meet present and changing needs. Every matriculate of the College is a member of the organization.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATION

1. Student Body officers shall consist of a President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer. They shall be elected by secret ballot from a list of candidates nominated by the Student Assembly. The president shall preside over all meetings of the Student Body and shall serve as President of the Student Council and Student Assembly.

2. The Student Council by authorization of the Board of Trustees and of the Faculty shall have jurisdiction over matters concerning breach of the Honor Code. Any student convicted of a breach of the Honor Code is subject to dismissal on notification to the Administration and with its concurrence.

The Honor Code requires that a student shall act honorably on all occasions. Cheating, lying, stealing, violation of written pledges or any dishonorable action constitute breaches of the Honor Code.

4. The Finance Committee shall consist of three members appointed by the President of the Student Body from the membership of the Student Assembly. This committee shall consult with the

5. The Student Activities Committee shall consist of five members elected by the Student Body at the same time and in the same manner as Student Body Officers. This Committee shall represent the Student Body in policy-making conferences with the Administration or with any department of the College. The Committee shall initiate and help to direct plans for recreational activities. The Chairman of this Committee shall with the President of the Student Body be the student representatives on the Athletic Council.

STUDENTS' CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The Students' Christian Association is an influence in both the social and Christian life of the students. During the first week after arrival at College the initial S.C.A. reception is held for the purpose of bringing the new men into closer touch with the older students and members of the Faculty, and other receptions are held at intervals throughout the session. The S.C.A. endeavors to make the new men feel that they are among friends from the start.

Under the auspices of the S.C.A., Bible Classes, Mission Study Classes, and Wednesday Evening Prayer Services are conducted throughout the session, and evangelistic services at intervals.

The reading rooms are attractively arranged and well supplied with wholesome games, magazines, and newspapers, both religious and secular.

When a student enters College he is invited to become an active member of the S.C.A.

THE LITERARY SOCIETY

The present society is the result of the merger of the old Union and Philanthropic Societies.

The work of the Society is under the supervision of members of the Faculty, who volunteer their services.

Each year medals are awarded by the Society for proficiency in Oration, Public Speech, Declamation, and Reading.

THE JONGLEURS (THE HAMPDEN-SYDNEY PLAYERS)

Students interested in dramatics are invited to seek admission to membership in the Dramatic Club. Men must convince the Faculty coach and a committee of student members of their aptitude in this line. Each year the Club presents one play in conjunction with the State Teachers College of Farmville and one or more with casts composed entirely of Hampden-Sydney students.

THE GLEE CLUB

Students who are musically inclined have an opportunity for expression of their talent along those lines. Some sort of choral organization has always existed at the College and full opportunity is given every student to try out for the Club. Several trips are taken during the fall and spring.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The Garnet, a literary magazine, is published four times a year.

The students publish an annual volume called The Kaleidoscope, of which fifty-three volumes have been issued. This publication, intended primarily to foster college spirit, contains the rolls and photographs of the classes and various College organizations.

The Hampden-Sydney Tiger, a weekly publication by the students reflecting the various phases of college life, was started in 1919-1920.

GREEK LETTER SOCIAL FRATERNITIES

There are seven National Greek Letter Fraternities at Hampden-Sydney. These are all members of the Pan-Hellenic Fraternity Council which with cooperation of a faculty committee formulates the rules for rushing and initiating new members and has jurisdiction over any infraction of its rules. The following are the fraternities which have chapters at Hampden-Sydney: Chi Phi, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha.

PHI BETA KAPPA

The Eta of Virginia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa Society annually in May elects to membership a limited number of Seniors who have exhibited scholarly attainment and distinction. To be eligible for election a student must have been in residence at Hampden-Sydney for a minimum of two years, must have a scholastic average of ninety on work taken in this College, and must have passed all courses. Phi Beta Kappa day is celebrated in December.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

In the spring of 1924 there was organized at Hampden-Sydney Lambda Circle of the National Honor Society of Omicron Delta Kappa. The object of this society is to encourage and honor leadership, and to utilize this leadership for the highest good of the College. The membership is composed of the recognized leaders in the various college activities and certain members of the Faculty chosen by the student members of the society. At the regular monthly meetings every phase of college life is discussed, and constructive policies are adopted. These policies are put into effect by the molding of opinion and sentiment on the campus through the personal influence of the leaders.

THE SIGMA UPSILON LITERARY FRATERNITY

The Sphinx Chapter meets approximately every three weeks. Some members of the Faculty and chosen Juniors and Seniors meet to discuss literary men and movements, to read papers and to review books.

CHI BETA PHI, SCIENTIFIC FRATERNITY

This is a national organization of undergraduates and faculty members interested in Science. The chapter at Hampden-Sydney is distinguished for its activity. In addition to its regular meetings for discussion of papers by the local members, the chapter brings in scientists from other institutions to give lectures and demonstrations. To these meetings the public is invited.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA FORENSIC FRATERNITY

Primarily an honorary fraternity for debaters and other public speakers, Tau Kappa Alpha has sponsored from year to year many campus projects designed to improve the college along forensic lines. The fraternity officers serve as the debate council, and each year the fraternity sponsors intramural debating, and awards a trophy to the winning Greek letter fraternity.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA, DRAMATIC FRATERNITY

This fraternity honors outstanding leaders on the campus in the field of dramatics. Members are elected from students who have shown a decided aptitude along dramatic lines, as well as students who have done outstanding work in staging and producing.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Pi Delta Epsilon honors Leadership in the field of journalism and associated activities. The Hampden-Sydney Chapter was chartered in 1939. The fraternity seeks to coordinate the various publications by bringing the editors and business managers into one group.

ETA SIGMA PHI

An ordinary fraternity for upper classmen proficient in classical studies, Beta Theta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi was established at Hampden-Sydney in 1942. It has promoted interest in ancient civilization through the purchase of Greek coins and records, and the presentation of various events of a classical nature.

No student may use more than one scholarship in one session.

DABNEY MEMORIAL FUND

This is a gift of $10,000 for endowment by Dr. Alexander Thomson, of Cincinnati, as a memorial to his father-in-law, Dr. Charles W. Dabney, and to Dr. Robert L.
